

ALCHEMIE PRIVACY POLICY

This is the privacy policy of Alchemie Limited whose website location is: www.alchemie.com. Alchemie, does not capture or store any personal information about individuals who access the Alchemie website, unless they voluntarily choose to give us their personal details via the contacts page and email, or by ordering or enquiring about any of our products or services. In this instance, any personal information provided is used exclusively by Alchemie for updating our existing and potential customers with current and future information about our products and services. We do not forward any personal information to outside organisations and/or individuals. We may occasionally provide links to other internet sites maintained by third parties and/or may provide third party information, items or materials on the Alchemie website. Any mention on our website of products or services provided by third parties is for information only and constitutes neither a recommendation nor an endorsement by Alchemie. We assume no responsibility for the content of any information, material, statement or opinions contained at any other site, or for the postings made by any other entity. We cannot and do not vouch for the accuracy of the information that is found on those sites or in any third party content. The contents of any site or link not maintained by us does not necessarily reflect our opinions, standards or policies or that of our directors, managers, staff or employees. Your dealings with any third parties listed on or found through our website are solely between you the third party and subject to any terms, conditions, privacy policies, warranties or representations associated with such dealings. Your use of a third party site or the choice to view third party content is at your own risk and is without warranties or legal liability of any kind whatsoever as to or from Alchemie.